Italy hosts USA in final

Italy will be at home to USA in the Final of the 2009 Fed Cup by BNP Paribas on 7-8 November after the two nations both scored surprise semifinal victories over the weekend. Italy upset defending champion Russia 4-1 at home in Castellaneta Marina, while USA came from match point down in the deciding doubles to defeat Czech Republic 3-2 away in Brno.

It was also an historic weekend for four other nations, with Serbia and Ukraine both qualifying for the World Group for the first time, while Poland and Estonia will both make their first appearance in World Group II in 2010. Six of the weekend's ten ties were decided by the final doubles rubber in a dramatic two days of Fed Cup.

Francesca Schiavone was Italy's heroine as her team achieved its first-ever victory over Russia to qualify for its third final in four years. The 28-year old veteran scored two battling three-set victories, over Svetlana Kuznetsova 16 62 63 on the opening day and Anastasia Pavlychenkova 76 46 62 to give the hosts a 3-1 winning lead. Flavia Pennetta put the Italians in front with a comfortable 64 60 victory over Anna Chakvetadze, before losing to Kuznetsova 60 63 on day two.

Italy will now bid for its second Fed Cup title following victory over Belgium in the 2006 Final. Schiavone said: "It's amazing to be back in the final, it's a dream and I am very happy to be part of the dream." Captain Corrado Barazzutti added: "I am happy for the girls. We won this match not with the forehand or the backhand but with the heart".

An astonishing contest in Brno saw Liesel Huber and Bethanie Mattek-Sands come back from the brink of defeat to beat Iveta Benesova and Kveta Peschke 26 76(2) 61 in the deciding doubles. The Americans saved a match point trailing 62 52, before fighting back to seal USA's first final appearance since 2003.

An unlikely American victory was set up by 19-year-old Alexa Glatch, who made an impressive astonishing Fed Cup debut with straight sets victories over Iveta Benesova 61 62 and Petra Kvitova 62 61. Glatch twice levelled the tie after Mattek-Sands lost both her singles rubbers.

Huber said afterwards. "Bethanie had a tough loss earlier today and I knew if there was going to be somebody out there to bring her up it would be me." US captain Mary Joe Fernandez added: "They showed a lot of heart and a lot of courage and that's what Fed Cup's about. It's about the team and working together and they found a way to win the match and it's a thrill to be in the final."

In the World Group Play-offs, Jelena Jankovic and Ana Ivanovic teamed up for Serbia to defeat Spain 4-0 in Lleida, earning Serbia its first appearance in the top division and relegating Spain from the World Group for the first time.

Ukraine will also make its World Group debut after a comfortable 5-0 win away in Mar del Plata, Argentina. France and Germany both needed deciding doubles victories to qualify for the World Group, France defeating Slovak Republic 3-2 in Limoges, and Germany overcoming China, P.R. 3-2 in Frankfurt. The four losing teams will all contest World Group II in 2010.

Three of the four World Group II Play-off ties were also decided by the doubles rubber, with Estonia and Poland both progressing to World Group II for the first time. Estonia overcame Israel 3-2 in Tallinn, while Poland defeated Japan 3-2 in Tokyo. Another deciding doubles saw Belgium overcome Canada 3-2 in Hasselt, while Australia were 3-1 winners over Switzerland in Mildura. The four losing teams will contest their respective Zonal Group I events in 2010.

Despite its defeat, Russia maintains its No. 1 position on the latest ITF Fed Cup Nations Ranking, which is published after every Fed Cup World Group weekend.
