... or a record 25th Grand Slam title for Djokovic?

Novak Djokovic is bidding to win his 25th Grand Slam singles title and claim sole ownership of the all-time record for most Grand Slam singles titles, ahead of Margaret Court. Aged 38 years 255 days, he would also become the oldest player in the Open Era to win a Grand Slam men's singles title – ahead of Ken Rosewall, who won the title here in 1972 aged 37 years 62 days. No. 1 v No. 4

This is the 8th meeting between the No. 1 seed and No. 4 seed in a Grand Slam men's singles final in the Open Era – and the 2nd meeting between the No. 1 seed and No. 4 seed in the Australian Open men's singles final in the Open Era, after No. 1 Djokovic defeated No. 4 Daniil Medvedev in the final here in 2021. Of the previous 7 Grand Slam finals between No. 1 and No. 4 seeds, No. 1 seeds have been victorious on 6 occasions.

If Alcaraz wins today, it will be the 22nd time in the Open Era that the No. 1 seed has won the men's singles title at the Australian Open and the 80th time in the Open Era that the No. 1 seed has won the men's singles title at a Grand Slam.

Djokovic is bidding to become the 8th No. 4 seed to win the Australian Open title in the Open Era – and 3rd in the last 4 years, after Djokovic won the title here as No. 4 seed in 2023 and Jannik Sinner won the title as No. 4 seed in 2024. If Djokovic wins today, it will be the 19th time in the Open Era that the No. 4 seed has won the men's singles title at a Grand Slam.

Can Djokovic break the Alcaraz-Sinner duopoly?

Since the start of the 2024 season, Alcaraz and Sinner have each won 4 Grand Slam titles. Djokovic is one of 4 other players to have reached Grand Slam men's singles finals in that time – alongside Taylor Fritz, Medvedev and Alexander Zverev.

With Alcaraz and Sinner having won the last 8 Grand Slam titles between them, it is the 5th time* that 2 players have recorded a combined streak of 8 or more Grand Slam men's singles titles. If Alcaraz wins the title here and maintains the streak, it will be just the 3rd time in history that 2 players have recorded a combined streak of 9 Grand Slam men's singles titles.

Djokovic was the player who ended the longest streak of Grand Slam men's singles titles won by a pair of players. By winning his first Grand Slam title at the 2008 Australian Open, he ended a streak of 11 Grand Slam titles won exclusively by Roger Federer and Rafael Nadal. (see table overleaf)

Beating the Top 2

Having defeated No. 2 seed Sinner in the semifinals here, Djokovic is bidding to become the 4th player in the Open Era to defeat both the No. 1 seed and No. 2 seed in the men's singles draw at the Australian Open – and the 9th player to achieve the feat at a Grand Slam. The last player to defeat the Top 2 seeds in the men's singles draw at a Grand Slam was Stan Wawrinka, en route to his first 2 Grand Slam titles at the 2014 Australian Open and 2015 Roland Garros.

Djokovic is the only player to have defeated both Alcaraz and Sinner at the same Tour-level event – he defeated Alcaraz in the semifinals and Sinner in the final at the 2023 ATP Finals.
