On court today...

- Defending champion Novak Djokovic will bid to reach the quarterfinals at Wimbledon for the 13th time today, with the No. 1 seed taking on wild card Tim van Rijthoven on Centre Court. Djokovic will be wary of the threat posed by the Dutchman – Van Rijthoven won the title at 's-Hertogenbosch last month and is unbeaten on grass this season. Should he record another victory today, Van Rijthoven will become the 8th man in the Open Era to reach the quarterfinals on his Grand Slam debut, as well as becoming the lowest-ranked man and the first wild card to reach the last 8 here since No. 144 Nick Kyrgios reached the quarterfinals as a wild card in 2014.
- Before Djokovic and Van Rijthoven take to court, 19-year-old Carlos Alcaraz and 20-year-old Jannik Sinner face off on Centre Court in what will be the youngest Wimbledon men's singles match-up (in terms of combined age) in round of 16 or later since 17-year-old Boris Becker defeated 21-year-old Henri Leconte in the quarterfinals in 1985. Both Alcaraz and Sinner are 2-time Grand Slam quarterfinalists – but neither has yet broken through to the last 8 at Wimbledon. Alcaraz is aiming to become the 13th Spanish man to reach the quarterfinals here, while Sinner would become the 6th Italian man to reach the last 8 at Wimbledon.
- Two American men are in action today, with Tommy Paul up against Cameron Norrie on No. 1 Court and Frances Tiafoe playing David Goffin on No. 2 Court. Should the pair both win today, it would be the first time that multiple American men have reached the quarterfinals at Wimbledon since 2000 – and with 2 more Americans aiming to reach the quarterfinals here on Monday, this year could see the most American men in the last 8 here since 1993.

NO. 1 NOVAK DJOKOVIC (SRB) v (WC) TIM VAN RIJTHOVEN (NED)

Head-to-head: first meeting

Djokovic has lost a Grand Slam match to a player ranked lower than Van Rijthoven once before – to No. 117 Denis Istomin in the 2nd round at the 2017 Australian Open. The lowest-ranked player to defeat Djokovic at Wimbledon is No. 75 Marat Safin in the 2nd round in 2008.

At No. 104, Van Rijthoven is bidding to become the lowest-ranked player to defeat a No. 1 seed at a Grand Slam since No. 203 Ivo Karlovic defeated No. 1 seed Lleyton Hewitt in the 1st round here in 2003.

Van Rijthoven is also bidding to become the first wild card to defeat the men's singles No. 1 seed at a Grand Slam in the Open Era and the first Dutchman to defeat a No. 1 seed at a Grand Slam since Richard Krajicek defeated No. 1 Pete Sampras in the quarterfinals here in 1996.
